Dear Parents and Player

The objective of this camp is to teach the basic concepts of basketball on an individual basis and how it extends to the team level. Our counselors from local high schools and colleges are derived from a wide variety of ages and experiences, enhancing the overall instruction in all aspects of the game.

We will conduct station instructions every morning that will teach players drills they can practice on their own to improve their skills.

My counselors and I look forward to sharing our experiences and keys to success. It is my goal to help each player maximize his potential as a basketball player and help them all to become the best players they can be.
